Dear Ms. Doe:

Honestly, I don't know where to begin. Perhaps with an expression of deep gratitude for people like you who believe in us, who believe our work is important and who recognize that, behind the badge, we are human beings just like everyone else.

You likely already know why I'm writing you, Ms. Doe. It's the fall and we depend on your financial support to keep it all going. We need your help to keep good people of all races and genders within our ranks. We need your help in providing safety, security and legal support for our officers. We need your help in encouraging young people to enter a profession that, likely, is the least popular career one can choose right now.

We are living in a very challenging America right now. Between the relentless pandemic and the political conflict that is manifesting itself in cultural change, protests and riots, it is almost too much for anyone to bear. As officers of the law we are caught in the middle of it, and it is exhausting.

To be identified as "divisive" in our current culture is a very serious accusation. The truth is our officers are put in conflictive, divisive situations constantly. By interrupting someone in the act of committing a crime, it is, in itself, an act of divisiveness. You can see the no-win conundrum we find ourselves in. It's no small wonder that we continue to lose valuable men and women within our ranks.

On a more positive note, we are fortunate to have you on our side. If you can contribute something this fall, we will send you our new 2021 Support Stickers, well in advance of the coming year. Please place your window sticker on the rear window, driver's side, where our troopers can see it. You will also be entered to win our bi-annual mini vacation for two. Larger contributors will be recognized with more enhancements and more chances to win the vacation. Please read the enclosed Trooper Talk for all the details.

Thank you, Ms. Doe. We can certainly use your help. Even more important, we can use your prayers. Let's get through this year safely. If you have any questions or comments regarding your contribution, or if you would like to make a secure credit card donation, please contact our Donor Service Center at 888-239-5323.

Sincerely,

Roy Kyle, President
